

OFFICE DEPOT

Shame On You!

Office Depot Discriminates Against The Black Press And The African American Community

IT IS A SHAME...

that after repeated attempts by African American newspapers to gain advertisement opportunities to pass on to the Black consumer in this country that a company like Office Depot would stoop to discriminate against newspapers and businesses that support their stores.

IT IS A SHAME...

that the Black community, which spends billions of dollars annually on products like those that are offered by Office Depot could not get the time of day nor any consideration for its publications from Office Depot's marketing or advertising departments.

AFRICAN AMERICANS:

many brave people before us have paid the price to be treated equal in this country. Don't stand by and let companies like Office Depot take that away from us.

Don't spend your money with someone who discriminates against you.
