OMSI's Really Really Big Film Festival

"Mysteries of Egypt" transports viewers to the time when the great pyramids were built, recreating the scenes as archaeologists now believe they occurred.

For the first time ever, the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry's Omnimax Theatre is bringing back six of the most popular large screen films shown. Called "A Really Really Big Film Festival," it runs through Jan. 16, 2002.

It will give film-goers an opportunity to see their favorite film again or catch the one that got away.

The six films are:

- "Everest"—Join famed climbers on a journey of triumph and tragedy to the top of the world's tallest mountain, featuring some of the most breathtaking photography ever recorded. Shown on holidays and Tuesday - Sunday at 2 p.m.; Wednesday - Saturday at 9 p.m.

- "The Living Sea"—Swim with thousands of jellyfish, feel the power of the ocean as you surf thundering waves in Hawaii, and dive to the mysterious depths of the sea to visit some of the last unexplored regions on our planet. Shown on holidays and Tuesday - Sunday at 1 p.m.
- "Antarctica"—Explore the far reaches of this beautiful and hostile environment, the land of enormous glaciers, ice-cloaked mountains, hardy penguins, fierce leopard seals and the amazing albatross. Shown on holidays, Saturday and Sunday at noon.
- "Dolphins"—Swim alongside some of nature's most graceful and extraordinary animals and learn about life in their underwater world. Shown on holidays and

- Tuesday - Sunday at 3 p.m.; Wednesday - Saturday at 8 p.m.
- "Mysteries of Egypt"—Fly over the Nile River, soar over the great pyramids of Giza, and descend into the shadowy chambers of King Tutankhamen's tomb in this film narrated by Omar Sharif. Shown on holidays and Tuesday - Sunday at 11 a.m.; Wednesday - Saturday at 7 p.m.
- "Destiny in Space"—Venture into the vast, mysterious frontier of space, and view amazing footage captured by astronauts on six NASA space missions. Shown holidays, Saturday and Sunday at 4 p.m.

BERNIE MAC
A Parent in the Making

Inspired by the real life of comedian Bernie Mac, "The Bernie Mac Show" is a daring new half-hour comedy for the whole family that premieres on Wednesday, Nov. 14 on FOX. In the show, Bernie suddenly finds himself the guardian of his sister's three young children; He combines tough love with a unique and comedic view on parenting. In trying to do the right thing, he doesn't always do the right thing.

Thirteen Characters Rolled Into One Man

Co-Ho Theatre, a new venue in northwest Portland that features high-caliber, off-beat shows will open with the premiere of "The Haint," a Southern Gothic play. The story revolves around a murder/suicide in the fictitious, tight-knit southern town of Midway, Tennessee. In coming to grips with the tragedy's ghostly aftermath, the good townspeople almost all agree that a disembodied spirit will make the perfect tourist attraction.

"The Haint's" 13 eccentric characters are played by just one actor, Troy Mink. From a sleazy gee-aw-shucks mayor, to a chain-smoking lesbian atheist, to a shrimp-dip obsessed town simpleton, to an effeminate new-age spiritualist—each character is played by Mink, who draws upon a bizarre repertoire of distinct personalities, voices and facial expressions.

Performances of "The Haint" will be given on Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 9-10 and 16-17 at 10:30 p.m. For reservations, call 503-295-3565.
