Shipyard Worker, Little League Coach Dies

George Carney, was born on Jan. 26, 1915 in Huttig, Ark., the son of Will Carney and Buehla Mac Herny.

On March 24, 1933 he married Osie Brandom in Wilmot, Ark. She was a devoted and loving wife for 70 years.

Carney moved his family to Portland in 1944 and lived in Vanport. He retired from the Local 296 and the shipyards after 50 years of service.

He was a baseball coach for Peninsula Little League for many years and was a mentor for all of grandsons, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Carney has been walking with the lord Jesus Christ for a long time as a member of New United Christian Community Church.

Survivors include his wife;

children, Georgia Andrews, Alvin Carney, Morris Carney, Kameka Carney-Thompson and Nina Ruth Storey; cousins, Mable Woods, Rosalie

Holloway and Charles Bridges; daughter in-law, Glendora Miner-Hart, 32 grandchildren, 65 great-grandchildren and 33 great-great grandchildren.

Carney was preceded in death by his long time friend, Pete Cannon, and three children, William Lee Carney, Helen McGee and Theo Carney.

Evelyn Torrence celebrates her birthday with Pastor C.T. Wells of Emmanuel Temple Church at the church's first annual seniors' retreat April 11 in Springfield.

Seniors: 'Not Tired Yet'

Thirty seniors from the Emmanuel Temple Church in north Portland followed the "We Are Not Tired Yet" theme of their senior retreat during a April 11-13 weekend getaway to the Comfort Suites in Springfield, Ore.

The seniors were joined by Emmanuel Temple founder Bishop A.A. Wells and evangelist Anita Williams, who helped the group focus on health, spirituality and fellowship.

After the retreat, the seniors felt they were closer to the promises of God. Another retreat is planned for next year.
