

Animal Program Mentors Youth CLASSIFIEDS / BIDS

A team from the Oregon Zoo's Zap program will give up-close and hands-on animal presentations during a community outreach event Saturday at HomeStreet Bank in northwest Portland.

The free program will celebrate the zoo's new Trillium Creek Family Farm exhibit, with rabbits, chickens, snakes, and ferrets from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The bank is located at 22 N.W. 23rd Ave.

Music, prizes, face painting, snocones and other fun activities are also part of the "Go Wild About Zoos" event co-sponsored by the HomeStreet Bank and "The Buzz" KRSK-FM.

Presenters from Oregon Zoo's Zap program teach young visitors about snakes, up close and personal.

Suspect Linked to Missing Teen

(AP) — A suspect in the disappearance of a college student in Corvallis had dryer lint in his house that was labeled to be from the apartment complex where the woman was last seen, according to a court document.

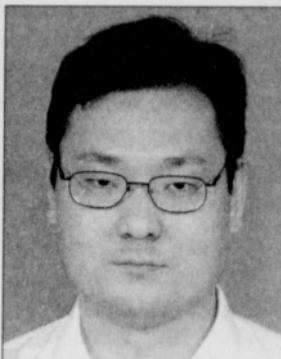

Sung Koo Kim, 30, of Tigard was arrested by Portland police Monday on unrelated theft and burglary charges. His bail was set at $10 million after he was accused of stealing underwear from three different Portland college dormitories or laundry rooms starting in October 2002.

Kim is also a suspect in burglaries and thefts at George Fox University in Newberg. Police found more than 1,000 pairs of underwear in his house, some with labels identifying the college, dorm and woman from whom they had allegedly been stolen.

An affidavit filed in Multnomah County posted on KGW.com said the lint was labeled with the apartment complex from where 19-year-old Brooke Wilberger disappeared on May 24.

In the affidavit, Detective Bryan Steed of the Portland Police Bureau refers to Kim as a suspect in the Wilberger case. He states that a search of Kim's computer by Newberg police yielded 40,000 pictures of women being tortured and raped. Newberg police also found videos of two women doing laundry at Concordia University in northeast Portland. The women were unaware they were being watched.

Corrections Officer Arrested

(AP) — A veteran corrections officer at the Multnomah County jail is facing child pornography charges.

Sgt. Kent Leroy Beach, 52, of Lake Oswego was indicted last Wednesday by a Clackamas County grand jury on three counts of encouraging sexual abuse of a child.

Lake Oswego police found sexual images involving children on Beach's home computer during a search to investigate bomb threat notes found in the boys locker room and a restroom at Lakeridge High School, according to the indictment.

Beach was placed on paid administrative leave April 30 after police informed the sheriff's office he was under investigation, said Multnomah County Sheriff Bernie Giusto.

The Portland/Multnomah Enterprise Community Commission (PMECC) provides oversight for the revitalization of the Enterprise Community. For more information, including a map of the Enterprise Community Area, see <http://www.netc.org/ec/>.

Projects will be selected through a competitive process.

(b) program delivery services to the Enterprise Community Commission and BHCD to assist in developing and implementing the competitive process for allocating the PMECC economic development fund, to assist successful fund recipients in project set-up, to establish reporting requirements, and to conduct public outreach.
