Marlon Brando Dies at 80

(AP)—Actor Marlon Brando has died at age 80. The death occurred Thursday at a Los Angeles hospital. The cause of death was being withheld, a spokesman said, noting the actor "was a very private man." Brando revolutionized American acting with his Method performances in "A Streetcar Named Desire" and "On the Waterfront" and went on to create the iconic character of Don Vito Corleone in "The Godfather."

Brando, whose unpredictable behavior made him equally fascinating off the screen, was acclaimed the greatest actor of his generation, a two-time winner of the Academy Award who influenced some of the best actors of the generation that followed, among them Al Pacino, Robert De Niro and Jack Nicholson.

Imani Winds Concert Saturday

The African-American group Imani Winds comes to Portland Saturday for a concert at Reed College.

The stunning, youthful and internationally acclaimed classical music of Imani Winds comes to Chamber Music Northwest on Saturday, July 10, during a special performance at Reed College's Kaul Auditorium in southeast Portland. Featuring five outstanding musicians of African-American and Latin heritage, the members of Imani Winds—flutist Valerie Coleman, oboist Toyin Spellman, clarinetist Mariam Adam, bassoonist Monica Ellis, and horn player Jeff Scott—joined forces in 1996 to create an ensemble that would push the boundaries of a traditional wind quintet.
