

Superhuman Dance

Mixing modern dance with superhuman athleticism, innovative humor and intense emotion is something that comes naturally to the cast of the Pilobolus Dance Theatre.

It started in a Dartmouth College dance class in 1971 with a clear desire to make something new. Thirty-four years later, this highly unusual company of six dancers, led by four artistic directors, has created a world-acclaimed ensemble that is remarkable for its unique weight-sharing approach to partnering and collaborative choreographic process.

Pilobolus will bring four thrilling works, including their newest piece "Megawatt" to Portland Wednesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlene Schnitzer Concert Hall. The performance will conclude the current season for WhiteBird sponsored dance events.

Named after Pilobolus, a phototropic zygomycete that is a sun-loving fungus growing in barnyards and pastures, Pilobolus Dance Theatre has be-

The Pilobolus Dance Theatre prides itself on athletic movements in their quartet of performances coming to Portland.

'She's Mine' Hits Airwaves

Portland's Super Producer Bosko and Cool Nutz's latest single "She's Mine" was recently added to rotation on Portland's KXJM Jammin 95.5. The single is the follow up to first hit "That Fire" from the album with the same title, which is in stores now.

The album features some of the hottest names in hip-hop with appearances from Lil Jon, E-40, DMX, Truth Hurts, BG, and more.

If you aren't familiar with Bosko, you might have heard his signature talkbox on the Grammy winning album "College Dropout" from Kanye West. Bosko has been hard at work, and it shows in the quality craftsmanship of "That Fire".

You can catch Bosko live on April 28 alongside artists Trillville and special guests at The Roseland Theater.
