Home Ownership Fair Coming

The Latino population in the Portland metro area is flourishing with more families moving into the area to join those already well established here. One key to their success will be buying a home. Homeownership is the most stable wealth-building tool for a family. Yet, the current homeownership rate for Latinos in Oregon is about 37 percent, which is significantly less than the national and statewide average, according to 2000 Census data. Therefore the Latino Home Initiative Committee is sponsoring a home ownership fair "Abriendo Puertas" or "Unlocking the Doors to Your Dreams" on Sept. 24 from noon to 5 p.m. at the Portland Community College Southeast Campus, 2305 S.E. 82 Ave. The event is free to the public.

The mission is to close the homeownership gap for Latinos and other low-income individuals and families through education and down payment assistance grants. The group plans to raffle off several down payment assistance grants of $3,000 each to fair participants. Buyers from last year's fair also will attend to share their home buying stories and encourage the fair participants.

At the event there will be seminars in several languages, entertainment, children's activities, food vendors, and about 25 information booths

(AP)— Music mogul Diddy and Grammy award-winning producer Emilio Estefan have joined forces on a multi-media venture called Bad Boy Latino, forming a coalition in the growing Latin hip-hop market.

Estefan and Diddy, perhaps the most recognizable producers in their respective genres, plan to recruit, produce and market a musical artist roster for Bad Boy Latino, they said in a joint news release Wednesday.

"The Latino market in the U.S. is such a beautiful, diverse, and powerful market and I am blessed to have a partner like Emilio," Diddy said in a statement. "He is an amazing example of how creativity, combined with hard work and a belief in one's self, can spark an entire cultural movement."

Estefan, the husband of Cuban-American songstress Gloria Estefan, has won multiple Grammys and Latin Grammys as a musician, songwriter and producer.

He has worked on albums for Latin music's most significant crossover artists, including Shakira, Ricky Martin and Jennifer Lopez, and is a member of the President's Committee on the Arts and Humanities. His television production credits include Super Bowl halftime shows and Olympic opening ceremonies.

2005 Nissan Altima 3.5 SL

Tested vehicle information: Price: $27,610; Engine: 3.5L DOHC 250HP Six Cylinder; Transmission: Five Speed A/T w/Gated Shifter.

Kathleen Carr
Nissan Altima is the sportiest of the mid-size sedans. The midsize Altima sedan series presents a fresh face and new interior designs. The Nissan Altima boasts a bigger interior than the Toyota Camry, Honda Accord and most other mid-size sedans. The new interior is nicer and more convenient than last year's interior.

The Nissan Altima upgrades are a redesigned instrument panel, center console, three-spoke steering wheel and chrome accents on dash and doors. New audio systems range from a standard AM/FM/CD with six speakers to an optional CD changer for six discs or a Bose premium system with eight speakers and steering wheel audio controls.

With its 250-horsepower V6, the Altima is one of the hottest cars in its class. It delivers stunning acceleration. Punch it in any gear and it takes off. The superior handling and braking matches the driving force of the engine. The Altima 3.5L base starts at $23,100 ranges upto $29,200. The 3.5 SL had very few options that could be added to what seems to be a fully loaded vehicle.
