

LAW & JUSTICE

Murder Suspect Arrested

Mark Millage

Portland Police arrested 16-year-old Mark Edward Millage on a murder charge Friday while the teen was attending a Jefferson High School football game.

The charge stems from the shooting of 17-year-old Richard Minnefield on Sept. 25 just a block away from the school, although neither were students at the school. Investigators have stated the cause of the shooting could have been an argument over a girl.

Millage is being held at Multnomah County jail and has been indicted by a grand jury to be tried as an adult.

Mounted Patrol Unit Grows

The Portland Police Bureau's Mounted Patrol is welcoming its newest member, Spud, and mounted patrol hopeful, Ian. Nine horses now occupy the mounted patrol facility, which opened in the fall of 2001 near the waterfront in northwest Portland. To learn more about the program and to visit the horses, call 503-823-2100.

Death Warrant Signed

Founder of Crips gang loses appeal

(AP) - A judge in Los Angeles signed a death warrant Monday for Stanley "Tookie" Williams, a co-founder of the notorious Crips gang who was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize for his children's books.

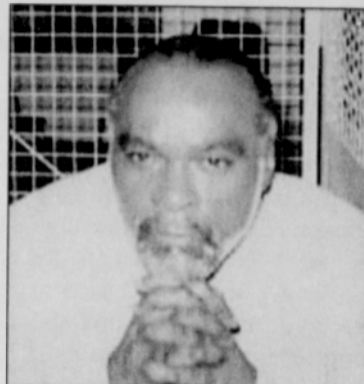

Williams is scheduled to die Dec. 13 at San Quentin prison. The judge rejected requests by his attorneys to delay the execution until Dec. 22 to give them more time to seek clemency from Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger.

The Dec. 13 date means attorneys have only until Nov. 8 to submit a clemency request. The U.S. Supreme Court declined to consider Williams' case earlier this month.

"This case has taken over 24 years to get to this point," Superior Court Judge William R. Pounders said. "That is a long delay in itself, and I would hate to add to that delay."

Williams, 51, and a high school friend started the Crips street gang in Los Angeles in 1971.

Williams was sentenced to death in 1981 for fatally shooting Albert

Stanley "Tookie" Williams

Owens, a convenience store worker, in 1979. He also was convicted of killing two motel owners and their daughter during a robbery that same year.

Williams maintains he is innocent, and supporters cite his renunciation of his past and his efforts to curtail gang violence, including a series of children's books he co-wrote in prison.

Supporters have nominated him for the Nobel Peace Prize and the Nobel in literature, and a cable TV movie of his life last year starred Oscar-winning actor Jamie Foxx.

Volunteers for Citizen Review Needed to Oversee Police Conduct

Candidates would gather community concerns

The Independent Police Review Division of the Portland City Auditor's Office is accepting applications for volunteers to serve on the Citizen Review Committee.

The principal duties will include the following: making objective decisions when citizens or Police Bureau members appeal the results of police misconduct investigations; serving as a member of the citizen pool for the Portland Police Bureau's Use of Force and Performance Review Boards; participating in orientation and training about policing; advising on complaint handling; working with IPR staff to conduct in-depth policy reviews related to the Police Bureau; and gathering community concerns about police policies and procedures.

Candidates must be Portland residents or business owners, with a lack of real or perceived conflicts of interest, able to make a substantial time commitment, including monthly evening meetings of several hours. Due to access to confidential law enforcement records, they must be able to pass a criminal background check.

The application form is available in hardcopy through the IPR office at 1221 SW 4th Avenue, Room 320, Portland, OR 97204, or call 503-823-0146. Adobe and Microsoft Word versions of the application form are available on the IPR web site at www.portlandonline.com/auditor/ipr.

Complete applications must be received by 5 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 21 at the Office of Neighborhood Involvement in City Hall, Room 110, 1221 SW 4th Avenue, Portland, OR 97204. Questions may be addressed to Michael Hess, IPR Deputy Director, at 503-823-0146. Every attempt will be made to select qualified persons who represent the demographic and ethnic diversity of Portland.

I GOT WHAT'S HOT!

Best Damn Bones in Portland

True Southern Soul Food

Da Man's Burger • Michael Jackson Burger • Luther Vandross Brisket
Queen Latifah's Cajun Catfish B.L.T • chittlins • pig feet • sweet potato pie liver • gizzards • greens and other southern delicacies

Bring in this ad for 10% off
3962 NE MLK Blvd & Shaver
503-288-8431

Check out our Daily Lunch Special $3.75

Prostitution, Drug Zones Reviewed

The city is hosting a series of meetings to discuss its drug and prostitution-free zones. The first of these will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1 at the King Neighborhood Facility, 4815 N.E. Seventh Ave.

The zones, in place since 1993, were scheduled to be renewed and modified for the next three years. Last week, however, Mayor Tom Potter asked that this process be placed on hold until Feb. 2 so that the zones' operation can be evaluated.

As currently practiced, people arrested for drug or prostitution-related offenses can be ordered "excluded" from the zones for 90 days or for a year if convicted.

Proponents say it is a valuable crime-fighting tool. Critics say it unfairly imposes penalties against people without due process, and is at least potentially discriminatory.

Lawmaker Sentenced

State Rep. pocketed $145,000

(AP)—Former State Rep. Dan Doyle, one of the most influential Republicans in the Oregon Legislature as co-chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, was sentenced to 10 months in jail Thursday for filing false election campaign finance reports.

The 48-year-old Salem resident pleaded guilty last month to 11 felony counts of filing false campaign finance reports in the 2002 and 2004 elections.

The state prosecutor said Doyle falsified reports in order to conceal at least $145,000 in payments that he listed as going to campaign vendors but actually went to himself and his law firm.

The sentence was handed down by Robert Cannon, temporary judge on the Marion County Circuit Court, who told Doyle: "You had a unique and privileged position."

"I couldn't be more disappointed in this case," he told Doyle.

Doyle's wife, Victoria, pleaded guilty last month to one count of filing a false campaign report, following her unsuccessful run last year for Marion County clerk. She served 10 days in jail and was put on probation for three years.

Addressing the court on Thursday, Doyle said: "What it boils down to is I lied to the public, and I'm taking responsibility for that any way that I can."

Dan Doyle

SUBSCRIBE NOW!

The Portland Observer--Oregon's Oldest Multicultural Publication--is a member of the National Newspaper Association--Founded in 1885, and The National Advertising Representative Amalgamated Publishers, Inc, New York, NY, and The West Coast Black Publishers Association, Serving Portland and Vancouver.

Yes! I'd like a year's subscription to The Portland Observer:

- individual — $60
- Institutions, organizations — $75
- International — $75

I want to keep the presses rolling. Here's my contribution of $_____ to The Portland Observer.

Please do not send cash

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Phone () _____

Mail form to:
Northwest Print Co.
4747 NE MLK Blvd.
Portland, OR 97211

Make check or m.o. payable to Northwest Print Co., or pay by credit card (Visa, MC, AmEx or Discover)

Card Number _____ exp. date _____

Signature _____

You can subscribe or donate ONLINE by credit card at www.portlandobserver.com

