Woodlawn School 'Dreamers'

Students of the northeast Portland's Woodlawn Elementary "I Have A Dream" Foundation-Oregon program are preparing to begin work on a "Where I'm From" photo exhibit.

The 5th graders will learn from local photographer Roxanne Hubbard about composition while taking photos of various places and people. The pictures, comprised of where they like to hang out and of their family members, will then be made into an electronic slideshow complete with student narratives and music.

The exhibit will be shown to local nursing homes in an effort to foster intergenerational relationships and community involvement. This specific project is in celebration of Martin Luther King Day.

ber Rosa Parks, we must also renew and recommit to living and acting out the high ideals embodied in her life. We must give our hearts, minds, and bodies to creating a more perfect union of economic and social equality, a world committed to peace and an American family standing together. Because of Rosa Parks, we know we can do better.

Nancy Pelosi serves as the House Democratic Leader.

Staying Positive:

I try to not think of those things that we cannot control, but I think if we continue to work with positive attitudes, conditions will be better for more people.
