Student Nonviolent Coordinating Council (SNCC) founder and NAACP counsel Marian Wright, testifying about acute hunger in Mississippi, urges King to mount a national movement to reduce poverty.

"A nation or civilization that continues to produce soft-minded men purchases its own spiritual death on an installment plan."

King labors to convince skeptical advisors Andrew Young, Stanley Levison, Clarence Jones, Cleveland Robinson and James Bevel (clockwise from King) that an uphill poverty movement offers a more positive emphasis than all-out effort to stop the Vietnam War.
