

Alba on List of Sexy Celebs

(AP) -- Another day, another list. But what the heck, this one is a "What is Sexy?" rundown from Victoria's Secret. "SexyBack" singer Justin Timberlake is sexiest male musician; Jessica Alba, who starred in "Sin City," is sexiest actress; and David Beckham, who has three sons with his wife, Victoria, is sexi-est dad.

The list of sexy entertainers was compiled by a team of Victoria's Secret executives, designers and supermodel spokeswomen, including Heidi Klum and Karolina Kurkova.

"I still think my husband (Seal) is the sexiest dad for our children, but (that's) beside the point,"

Jessica Alba

Klum, 33, said. Matthew McConaughey was honored for his "beach body." Other sexy celebs: Eric Dane (actor), Carrie Underwood (female musician), speed racer Danica Patrick (female athlete), Yankee Derek Jeter (male athlete), Kate Hudson (mom), and Jay-Z and Beyonce (couple).

Sienna Miller won props for her trendsetting style, Josh Duhamel for his smile and Adrian Grenier for his eyes.

Interpreting the Art of Life Through Dance

Margie Boulé and Corey Brunish star in the Stumptown Stages return production of "Grease."

Back by Popular Demand

"Grease," the reunion production

After a sold-out run at the Interstate Firehouse Cultural Center in north Portland, the Geezers and Old Ladies, um, I mean, Greasers and Pink Ladies are back at it, now at the World Trade Center Theatre, opening Friday, May 4.

The Stumptown Stages production features Margie Boulé as Sandy and Corey Brunish as Danny, and is directed and choreographed by Drammy Award-winning actor and actress team, Kirk Mouser and Amy Palomino.

The original Broadway production of Grease opened on June 7, 1972, and went on to become a hugely successful film starring John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John. A new Broadway production is scheduled for June 2007, and was cast via NBC's new reality show "Grease: You're The One That I Want."

Tickets for the local production are available online at stumptownstages.com. Performances are Friday and Saturday nights, May 4 through June 30 at the World Trade Center Theatre, Two World Trade, 121 S.W. Salmon St. Tickets are $27 for general admission and $25 for seniors and students. For more information, call 503-381-8686.
