2007 Kia Sorento EX 4X4

The Sorento Steps Up In The SUV Game

BY KATHLEEN CARR

The Korean car manufacturer, Kia has done much to overhaul its image over the past few years. Nowhere is it more apparent than in the Kia Sorento. The midsize Sorento has brought a lot of respect to the Kia brand name since its inception in 2002, winning award after award. Recently winning the JD Powers consumer survey as the best 4X4; and the only 4X4 to achieve a 5-Star overall consumer rating.

The new five-passenger Kia Sorento features an all-aluminum 3.8-liter V6 engine with 262-horsepower at 6000 rpm, and torque 260 at 4500 ft.-lbs. That is a 36% increase over the SUV's previous 3.5-liter V6. The electronically controlled five-speed transmission allows drivers to switch between automatic and manual. The new powertrain helps the midsize SUV, which employs a rugged body-on-frame construction to increase the towing capacity to a stout 5,000 pounds.

Specifications: 3.8-liter 24-valve DOHC, V6 engine; 5-speed automatic transmission, 4-wheel drive w/Low Range; 17-city mpg, 22-highway mpg.; $ 29,865 MSRP.

The Kia Sorento EX 4X4 is easily mistaken for a Japanese product with its conservative styling and trendy good looks. Sorento is Kia's mid-size crossover on a ladder frame. It has a heavy-duty suspension and 4-wheel drive with low range and limited slip differential, a competent platform. Although the Sorento 4X4 is fully off-road capable we found it to be a rough-rider.

Standard comfort and convenience features include air-conditioning, full power accessories, keyless entry control, a 10-speaker CD/MP3 audio system, 16-inch wheels and tires, AC, four 12-volt power outlets and 60/40 split flip and fold rear seats. May be we have become spoiled; but we missed having a navigation system.

The Sorento has earned the NHTSA five-star side impact safety rating. Safety features include four-wheel-disc antilock brakes, electronic stability system, active front head restraints, side curtain-type airbags cover the interior, and a knee airbag underneath the steering wheel aims to prevent drivers from sliding under the seat belt in a frontal collision.

Overall the 2007 Kia Sorento EX 4X4 is worth taking a look at for a mid-size SUV in this price range. But the lackluster fuel economy may give concern with the climbing prices of gas at the pumps.
