Percussion Extravaganza

A multicultural percussion extravaganza will bring local middle school students on stage in performance with world-class musicians Obo Addy, Portland Taiko, Catón Lyles, Hakim Muhammad, and Brian Davis of Pink Martini fame.

The public will have the chance to enjoy a sneak preview of this extraordinary event at a free open-air performance at 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 17 at the Discovery Center at South Waterfront, 0680 SW Bancroft.

A full afternoon concert featuring all of the artists and students will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 19 in the Jefferson High School basketball gym.

The events are free and open to the public.

Jesus Walks, Mom Talks

The mother of multi-award winning and headline stealing rap star Kanye West has written a book filled with personal reflection and life lessons.

"Raising Kanye: Life Lessons From The Mother of a Hip-Hop Superstar" is in bookstores now.

Dr. Donda West discusses her son's reputation as a mama's boy and his statements regarding George W. Bush's lack of care for the black community after Hurricane Katrina.

She was also recently in the news for discussion of the rapper's past addiction to pornography.

Kanye West won a Best Rap Song Grammy Award for his hit single "Jesus Walks" in 2005.
