Dear Nephew John:

know much about responsibility, thus his divorce. Although you have an obligation to put family first, you must never sacrifice your relationship for nonsense. Have a talk with your uncle and tell him that you want she gets the hint. If this doesn't vour relationship to work and help then tell her to clean her you can only go out with him on gone. If she chooses dirt over doesn't understand then he's you, say goodbye and keep it selfish and deserves to go out alone.

Dear Overweight:

Apparently your uncle doesn't If you're having these feelings there's no sense denying there's some truth to what's going on. The best way to tell if your husband is slipping is for you to lose weight. You need to be happy with good self-esteem. Once you get back into your zone, measure your husband's activity and house and keep it clean or you're a conservative basis. If he behavior towards you. If things don't change, you have a problem that goes beyond weight. Be prepared for a discussion and seek honest answers regarding your relationship.
