Leroy Vinnegar Jazz Presents: Saxophonist John Nastos

The Leroy Vinnegar Jazz Institute's fourth-annual Young Artist Jazz Concert features John Nastos, the leader of Portland's "Nu Jazz" scene.

The saxophonist and composer has packed a lot of music into a short span of time. At 21 years old, the 2004 graduate from Grant High has a self-assured sound, fiery improvisations, cerebral compositions, and Bachelor of Music in Jazz from Manhattan School of Music.

Nastos is equally comfortable leading his own distinctive groups E4, and the John Nastos Acoustic Band, serving as a key player in Portland's exploding Nu Jazz scene or keeping busy as a sideman with Mel Brown, Gordon Lee's Big Band, and the Oregon Jazz Orchestra, among others.

He is definitely one of the Northwest's rising stars.

The Young Artist Jazz Concert takes place Thursday, Feb. 21st at 7:30 p.m. at The Old Church, 1422 S.W. 11th Ave.

Nastos has assembled a stellar lineup for the performance that includes both new and veteran players including drummers Drew Shoals and Alan Jones, bassist Dave Captein and special guest New York pianist Sam Harris.

Adult tickets are $10 in advance, plus applicable service charge, and $12 on the day of show. Student tickets are $8. Tickets are available at the PSU box office, by calling 503-725-3307, or at any Ticketmaster outlet.
