

Arts & ENTERTAINMENT

The Portland Observer
SECTION C
Wednesday, March 26, 2008

World Premiere Will Step Here

Play adapted from Oregon tale
See story inside, page C3

Hank Stamper (P. J. Sosko) field tests a new pair of corks (spiked logging boots) in "Sometimes a Great Notion," Ken Kesey's essential Pacific Northwest novel making its theatrical world premiere at Portland Center Stage from April 1 through 27.

PHOTO BY OWEN CAREY

What to do and where to go?
See The Portland Observer's
ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE
Inside on page C4

Concert to Explore Life and Death
See page C2

38 years of community service