African lions have not been seen at the Oregon Zoo for more than 10 years. That will change when Predators of the Serengeti opens next summer.

Mr. Brooks, a handsome 2-year-old gerenuk, is one of six animals newly arrived at the Oregon Zoo's Africa complex.

Predators of the Serengeti

Animals

arrive for new zoo exhibit

Construction is under way on the new Predators of the Serengeti exhibit in the Oregon Zoo's Africa complex, but there's also activity in the zoo's Africa Savanna and Rainforest exhibits. Six new animals have arrived recently.

Averill, a 6-year-old male Allen's swamp monkey has been introduced to the two other swamp monkeys and four colobus monkeys in his Rainforest exhibit.

A DeBrazza's monkey, a gerenuk and three Speke's gazelles have new homes in the Savanna exhibit.

"Our Africa exhibits are bustling with activity," commented Oregon

Zoo Director Tony Vecchio. "We're excited to have all the new animals, and look forward to even more when Predators of the Serengeti opens next summer.

Set to open in 2009, Predators of the Serengeti celebrates African predators large and small, including lions, cheetahs, African wild dogs, red-billed hornbills, dwarf mongooses and caracals.

The zoo is a service of Metro and is dedicated to its mission to inspire the community to create a better future for wildlife. Committed to conservation, the zoo is currently working to save endangered California condors, Washington's pygmy rabbits, Oregon silverspot butterflies, western pond turtles, Oregon spotted frogs and Kincaid's lupine. Other projects include studies on black rhinos, Asian elephants, polar bears and bats.

50 Cent

Rapper blasts Taco Bell for selling him short

(AP) -- Rapper and hip-hop mogul 50 Cent has sued Taco Bell, saying the restaurant chain made him the star of its hip-hop themed ad campaign without his permission and without paying him a fee.

50 Cent, whose real name is Curtis Jackson, accused the fast food chain of trying to fool consumers into thinking he had endorsed the chain. The lawsuit accuses the chain of disseminating a letter, addressed to 50 Cent, that encourages the rapper to change his name to "79 Cent," "89 Cent" or "99 Cent."

The letter was designed to promote the company's "79-89-99 Cent Why Pay More" campaign, while avoiding the multimillion-dollar fee the rapper might have charged to use his name, the lawsuit said.

Since his debut album in 2003, 50 Cent has built a business with a record label, a clothing and footwear line, ringtones and video games. He has also starred in a movie based on his life, "Get Rich or Die Tryin'."
