Blue Note Artist Closes Series

Amos Lee's soul-folk fusion tugs at every heartstring. The Blue Note artist closes out the Oregon Zoo's summer concert series on Friday, Aug. 28.

Lee hails from Philadelphia, where he caught the attention of Norah Jones who offered Lee an opening slot on her 2004 tour. His full-fledged debut album reached No. 2 on Billboard's Top Heatseekers Chart and garnered Lee a spot on Rolling Stone's list of "Top 10 Artists to Watch" for 2005. His most recent release, 2008's

"Last Days at the Lodge," made the Top 30 nationally and demonstrated Lee's increasing maturity as an artist.

Lee's voice has accompanied dozens of heartwarming and tear-jerking television moments, including scenes in "Studio 60," "ER" and "Six Degrees." His song "Colors" was featured on an episode of "House" and the 2006 season finale of "Grey's Anatomy."

General admission tickets are $10.50 and may be purchased at ticketmaster.com and at the zoo.

Farewell Performance

On his farewell performance tour in the role that made him legendary, Chaim Topel is Tevye in Fiddler on the Roof. The Tony Award-winning musical opens Tuesday, Aug. 25 with shows through Aug. 30 at Keller Auditorium.

Kids Port Explores Shipping

The Port of Portland has partnered with the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry to sponsor Kids' Port, a new interactive exhibit based on the processes carried out at the Port of Portland's marine terminal when shipping containers arrive.

Kids' Port includes a small model of a crane, several push trucks, blocks representing cargo containers, a model cargo ship, a colorful printed carpet, and a model warehouse with a scanner.

"Kids' Port is a great addition to the Port's Where in the World school outreach program," said Port of Portland Executive Director Bill Wyatt. "It will be a fun way for kids to learn more about how the clothes they wear and the products they buy actually get here while building understanding of the role imports and exports play in our state's economy."

Young visitors will move through the process of receiving model cargo containers by removing them from a model ship with a child-sized crane, loading them in toy trucks, and taking them to a miniature warehouse to be scanned.
