Women in Trades Fair Coming Up

Are you a woman looking for an unconventional career change, but aren't sure where to turn?

On Saturday, May 1, check out the 18th Annual Women in Trades Career Fair. Sponsored by Oregon Tradeswomen Inc., an organization dedicated to connecting women to jobs in trades, the fair will cover apprentice programs and training opportunities in the trades. The "green economy" is expected to grow, and many jobs will require skills needed for blue-collar jobs.

Employers will be on hand to talk about working as an electrician, carpenter, roofer, and other vocations. There will also be hands on opportunities to try out operating a crane, soldering a copper pipe, fanning a house and more.

It's from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the NECA/IBEW Electrical Training Center, located at 16021 N.E. Airport Way.) Free parking, free childcare, free admission.

Outstanding TriMet Operators Named

TriMet has recognized three operators as Operator of the Year. The awards are based on outstanding driving records, customer service and attendance with nominees voted on by their peers.

Shaler Halimon Jr. was honored as TriMet's Bus Operator of the Year. Frank Rockenback was chosen as MAX Operator of the Year. Steve Fung obtained the top honor for a part-time bus operator.

PCC Students Recognized

Five students at Portland Community College's Cascade Campus recently received scholarships from the Oregon NASA Space Grant Consortium. The scholarships are meant to recognize and support students pursuing careers in space, science, engineering, and education. Three students received $3,000 prizes in the form of Pre-Service Teacher Scholarships, and two other received $2,000 Freshman/Sophomore Undergraduate Scholarships. From left are Cascade Campus President Algie Gatewood, Suzanna Kangas, Christopher Wade, Nils Wagman, Portland Teachers Program Director Deborah Cochrane, Ronald Perry, Anna Jacobsen, and Cascade Campus Dean of Instruction Scott Huff.
