Train Tours, Celebration

Portland's Union Station will host its 3rd annual National Train Day event with special tours and performances on Saturday, May 8 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the downtown train depot, located at 890 N.W. Sixth Ave.

In addition to having the 4449 world famous steam locomotive back again this year, officials will be hosting tours of the Amtrak Cascades equipment and will be showing off the design of the new Talgo passenger trains that Oregon will receive in 2012.

Union Station's Wilf's Restaurant will be serving snacks and beverages train side. There will also be prizes and special giveaways.

The historical steam locomotive SP 4449 'Daylight' will go on public viewing during National Train Day festivities on Saturday, May 8 at Portland's Union Station.

Jefferson Dancers Performing

Fresh from returning from a packed house performance at a selective national student showcase, the Jefferson Dancers return to Portland with their spot-on energy and undeniable talent.

Appearing May 5 through 8 at the Newark Theater, the Jefferson Dancers will draw from local choreographers, many of whom are former members of the troupe themselves on go on to distinguished careers.

Recently the Jefferson Dancers had their work featured in the 10th National High School Performing Arts Festival. Held in Miami, Fla. The event selectively highlights artistic work from around the country and beyond.

Ticket prices range from $12 to $25, and can be purchased at the Newark Theater's office, www.ticketmaster.com, or Fred Meyer.
