Astronauts to Visit OMSI

As part of Planetarium's 60th anniversary

How hard is it to train to become an astronaut? What is it like to walk in space? How do you exercise in zero gravity? Find out the answers to these questions and more when the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry (OMSI) welcomes NASA astronauts Dottie Metcalf-Lindenburger and Jim Dutton for free special speaking engagements as part of OMSI's 60th anniversary celebration of the Kendall Planetarium.

Dottie Metcalf-Lindenburger

Jim Dutton

Astronaut Dutton will visit OMSI Saturday, June 12 with presentations at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. in the OMSI planetarium. Astronaut Metcalf-Lindenburger will visit OMSI on Saturday, June 19 with presentations at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the OMSI auditorium.

The events are free, but space is limited and reservations are required by emailing rsvp@omsi.edu or calling 503-797-4677 with your name, contact information and number of people. Dutton and Metcalf-Lindenburger were both part of a recent re-supply mission to the International Space Station. Dutton was the pilot on the crew of STS-131 and has logged over 362 hours in space.

Metcalf-Lindenburger has logged over 362 hours in space. Prior to joining NASA, she was an Earth science and astronomy teacher at Hudson's Bay High School in Vancouver. Dutton is originally from Eugene and now lives in Newberg.

The astronaut visits are part of OMSI's 60th anniversary celebration of the Kendall Planetarium. The free anniversary event will be held Saturday, June 19, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the OMSI front plaza. Several local astronomy groups will offer hands-on activities and telescopes for sky viewing. Several historic artifacts, including the original planetarium projector, will be on display.

Dr. Dre

Hip Hop Hit Maker Honored

Dr. Dre already has a few Grammys and now he has another award on his mantle - VIBE.com's Greatest Producer of All Time.

Dre had an easy trek to the finals in the magazine's online contest, trouncing Atlanta producer DJ Toomp in the first round, fellow West Coaster DJ Quik in the second and De La Soul's Prince Paul in the third. The veteran also edged out Bomb Squad in the Elite 8 round to go up against Kanye West in the final four, where a 68 percent advantage earned him a spot in the finals.

Dre told VIBE he was humbled by the award.

"I just go in the studio. I try to do my thing to the best of my ability," he said.
