Bar Shooting Cold Case

Crime Stoppers, in cooperation with the Portland Police Bureau, wants your help solving a homicide that occurred five years ago this week in north Portland.

On July 27, 2005, at about 9:52 p.m., officers discovered the body of 26-year-old Eyo Nyong outside the doorway of what was then J.D. Sports Bar in the 3500 block of North Vancouver Avenue shortly after hearing shots fired in the area.

Nyong had stepped outside of the bar and was talking with several people. At least two men approached on foot and engaged Nyong in a brief conversation. One of the suspects pulled out a gun and shot Nyong multiple times. He died at the scene from a gunshot wound to the head.

The assailants then fled on foot northbound on Vancouver Avenue

The suspects were described as black males in their early 20's. One suspect is 6 feet tall, weighing 190-195 pounds, with a very short afro. At the time of the incident, he was wearing a dark, short sleeved T-shirt, dark jean shorts, and white Nike Air Force basketball shoes. The second suspect is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighing 170 pounds, and has black hair worn in braids. At the time of the incident, he was wearing dark shorts.

Crime Stoppers is offering a cash reward of up to $1,000 for information, reported to Crime Stoppers, that leads to an arrest in this case, or any unsolved felony, and you remain anonymous.
