Siblings Await Adoption

Need is loving, permanent families

Savannah is a charming, sweet seven year old girl with a precious smile. She has a strong and affectionate relationship with Shania. Savannah enjoys taking care of her dollies, riding her bike, skipping and hopping, "reading", grooming her hair, and cheerleading. Savannah likes to look at herself in the mirror. She shows pride when showing her very neat and tidy room.

Shania is a delightfully and irresistibly cute six year old girl. Even though she is the youngest, she keeps up with her older siblings and occasionally likes to be the boss. She is a cheerleader for a middle school football team. She is eager to learn new things and be involved in activities at home and school.

Their adoptive family will need to be a strong team. The family will need to be able to be flexible as both children will need different types of parenting. The family will need to provide extra structure, routine, and predictability with lots of patience and love. The family will need to be open to facilitating contact with the siblings and bio-family.

It is hoped that Savannah and Shania will also have a supportive family environment to assist their visits with their siblings and in their play together.

To inquire about these children, visit the non-profit group A Family for Every Child on the Internet at afamilyforeverychild.org or call 877-343-2856 or 541-343-2856.
