Rapper at Berbati's Pan

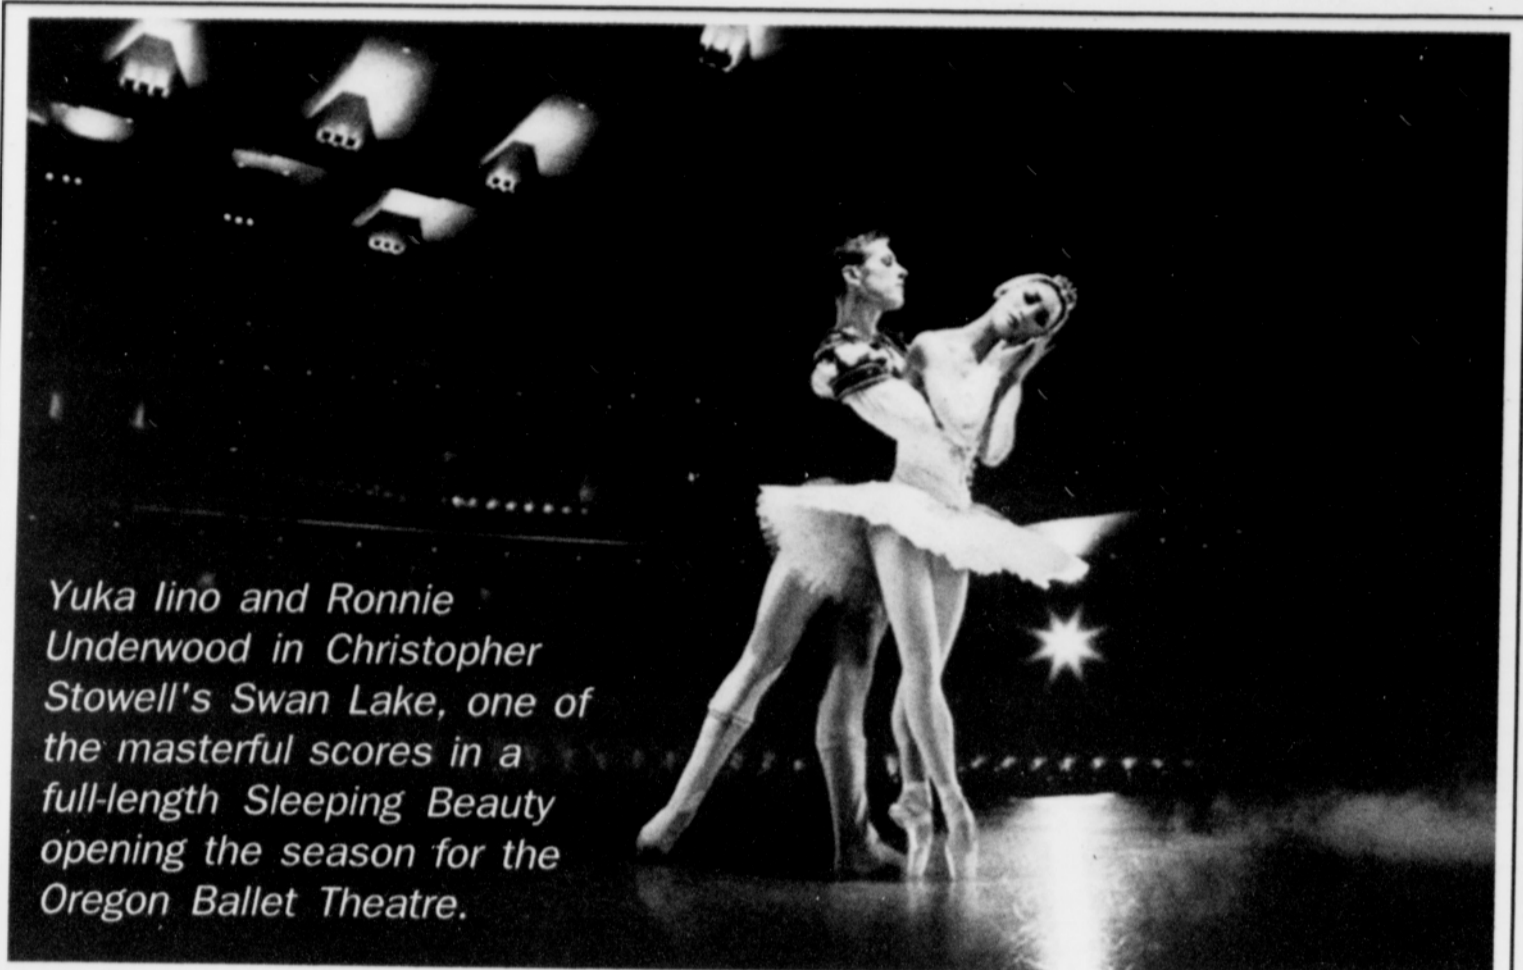

Vancouver-based MC Shad is set to storm the northern border during his U.S. tour coming to Portland Monday Oct. 11 at Berbati's Pan.

Shad has already garnered wide praise including a nomination for the prophetic Polaris Music Prize. Moving forward. The son of Rwandan immigrants, Shad invested time into his craft while growing up in London. Reared on the sounds of American hip-hop while diligently pursuing an education, his character is an even-keeled amalgam of these influences, glaringly manifested on his introspective, multi-faceted new album TSOL.

Shad asserts that borders can't contain artistry and he is proving it by accompanying K-OS on his 18-stop tour.

Vancouver, B.C. rapper Shad brings his U.S. tour to Portland Monday, Oct. 11 for a performance at Berbati's Pan, downtown.

Yuka Iino and Ronnie Underwood in Christopher Stowell's Swan Lake, one of the masterful scores in a full-length Sleeping Beauty opening the season for the Oregon Ballet Theatre.

Sleeping Beauty Opens Season

Danced to the greatest of Tchaikovsky's three masterful scores for ballet, the full-length Sleeping Beauty opens the Oregon Ballet Theater season auspiciously, joining the composer's Swan Lake and The Nutcracker in OBT's repertoire.

First choreographed in 1890 by the illustrious Marius Petipa, this enchanting tale of a wicked fairy's curse, a century's sleep and a revitalizing kiss is famous the world over as a stirring homage to pure love triumphant and true.

Artistic Director Christopher Stowell's new The Sleeping Beauty retains the most famous passages of Petipa's original version, while adding scintillating choreography and sparkling roles for the entire company. Five breathtaking performances with the OBT Orchestra, plus a special shortened version just for the youngest fans!

Performances at Keller Auditorium begin Saturday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 10 at 2 p.m.; continuing Thursday, Oct. 14 through Saturday, Oct. 16.
