Robert Cross, the Alberta store manager for Umpqua Bank, congratulates Angela Molloy Murphy for her organization winning $10,000 from the bank for a "Youth-Driven Community Art" project.

Arts Culture, Heritage Honored

A youth-driven art project will encourage young people to use their voices to honor the arts culture and heritage of communities along Northeast Alberta Street.

Thanks to $10,000 of support from the Alberta branch of Umpqua Bank, area schools will create a unique and collaborative community space which will remind everyone of the potential and significance that our young citizens have in our community.

The project was submitted by Angela Molloy Murphy as part of an Alberta Arts Build Your Block

Challenge sponsored by Umpqua Bank.

Launched in late July, the contest received 34 neighborhood project ideas to benefit the entire community. Nearly 700 votes were cast by community members voting in the contest.

Healthy Cougar Cub Arrives

Visitors to the Oregon Zoo can look forward to watching a young cougar grow up. The zoo's adult female cougar, Chinook, gave birth to a healthy female cub on Sept. 19. Keepers say the first-time mom is taking good care of her newborn, which weighed around 2 pounds at birth.

The Oregon Zoo's new female cougar cub weighed around 2 pounds at birth.

"The cub is an adorable, roly-poly little cat covered in dark spots," said Michelle Schireman, Oregon Zoo cougar keeper. "Like all baby cougars, her coat will lose its spots as she grows — it should be fun to watch her coloring change to an adult pattern."

Mom and baby are currently off exhibit so they can bond without interruption; father Paiute, who moved to the zoo last spring, is still visible to the public.

"We are pleased to welcome a new member of our cougar family to the zoo," said Kim Smith, zoo director. "Our female, Chinook, is taking excellent care of her cub, and the staff couldn't be more pleased."
