Voices of the World Unite

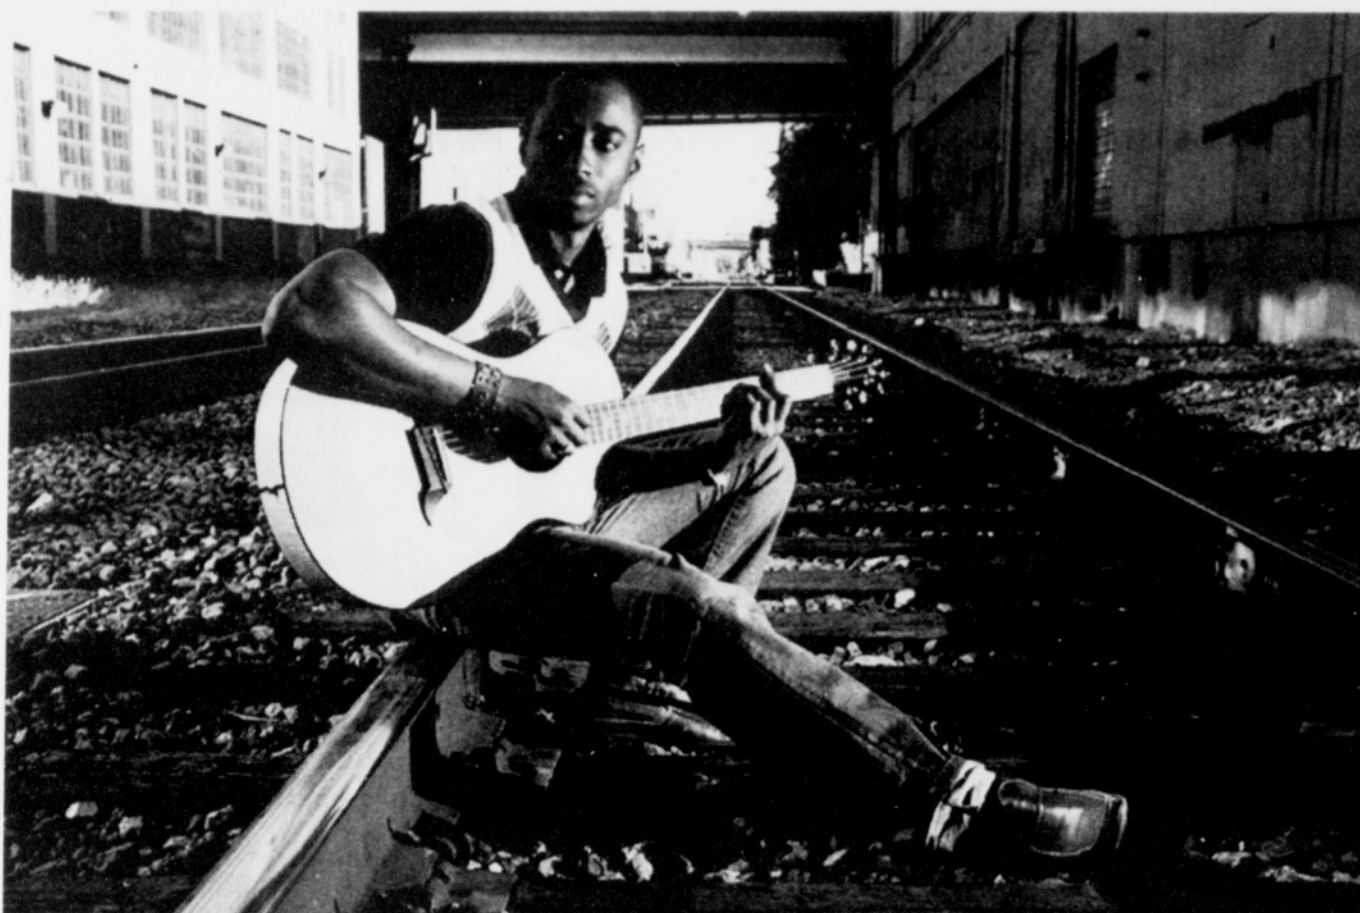

"Voices of the World," a series of events to honor International Education Week, will take place Monday, Nov. 15 through Friday, Nov. 19 at Clark College in Vancouver, 1933 Fort Vancouver Way. All events are free and open to the public.

The ability to identify, analyze and demonstrate how culture shapes world perceptions, values and behaviors is one of Clark College's educational priorities.

This year, 71 international students are attending Clark. They represent countries including Canada, France, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Portugal, Romania and Vietnam. More than 800 Clark students are currently studying English as a Second Language. Nearly 150 immigrant students learned English as a Second Language through corporate and continuing education classes because of Clark College.

The upcoming events are being coordinated by the Clark College Office of Student Life and Multicultural Student Affairs, Clark's Service Learning Program, and the Clark College Office of International Programs.

For more information, visit clark.edu/cc/ieweek.

Parfait Bassale, an artist, activist and master's degree candidate in International Conflict Resolution, will perform during International Education Week at Clark College in Vancouver. A native of Benin, West Africa who was raised in Senegal, he paints a message of truth, inspiration and hope through his music.

Finding the Right College

High school students and their parents are invited to an informative program at the Kenton Library on choosing the right college.

A successful college experience happens when a student is well placed academically and socially.

But many students discover only after enrolling at a particular institution that it does not match their personal preferences and academic needs. This unhappy situation can be avoided by conducting a thoughtful search for the right college.

Saturday's session, from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. will review the steps involved in a responsible search process. The Kenton Library is located at 8226 N. Denver Ave.

College Help for Adult Learners

The State of Oregon will host a booth for adult learners on accessing college, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12-13, at the College Fair held at the Oregon Convention Center.

The booth will be staffed by representatives of the Oregon Adult Learner College Line, a free phone line for prospective students needing college guidance.

Funded through a $1.4 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education, the Adult Learner Line is specifically for Oregonians ages 25 and older who are interested in going to college, but need some help and direction on how to enroll, seek financial aid, and generally navigate the process.

The booth will be open on Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and Saturday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The college fair is free and open to the public.

Supporting Careers in Health Care

It's common knowledge that there's a national shortage of certain types of health care professionals. For example, not enough physicians are going into the field of primary care. The nursing population is aging; many nurses will be retiring in the next 5 to 10 years.

Kaiser Permanente Northwest is partnering with the Oregon Health Career Center to help remedy the situation by helping students achieve their dreams of becoming health care professionals.

For the third year in a row, Kaiser is funding more than 100 college scholarships of $2,000 each for high school seniors in Oregon and Washington planning to go into the medical or dental field.

The scholarships will be focused on students who demonstrate financial need or are first-generation college-bound, bilingual or from ethnic or racial minority groups currently underrepresented in health professions.

More details can be found at kp.org/communitybenefit or ohcc.org/kpnwscholarship. Questions can be sent to Sara Diaz, scholarship program coordinator at sdiaz@ohcc.org or by calling 503-682-1300, extension 113.
