The adventurous, original string trio 'Terracoustic' will bring music from American and Irish dance traditions during a free family concert on Friday, Dec. 10 at the Community Music Center, 3350 S.E. Francis St.

Concert for Parents and Kids

The Community Music Center in southeast Portland will continue its popular family concert series with 'Terracoustic,' an adventurous original string trio with music from American and Irish Dance traditions.

The performance will take place on Friday, Dec. 10 at 7:15 p.m. The Community Music Center is a Portland Parks and Recreation facility that is located at 3350 S.E. Francis St.

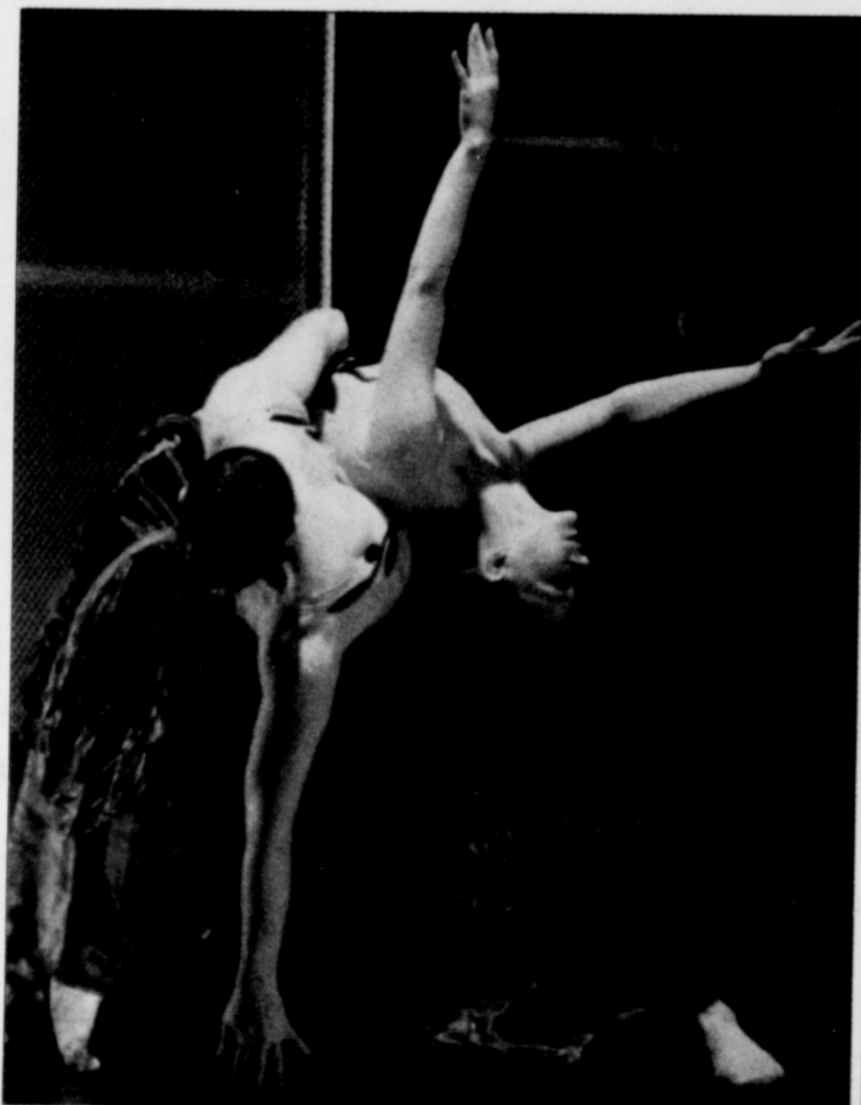

The Family Friday Concert Series, the second Friday of each month is something fun for parents and kids to attend together. Performances end by 8:30 p.m. and are free with a suggested donation of $5 or $15 for a family of any size.

Tickets available at the door only. Fresh popcorn, snacks and refreshments are sold at the door for a minimal price.

Polaris Theatre Fall Concert

Though the recession may have roughed up resources for many arts organizations, Artistic Director Robert Guitron of Portland's Polaris Dance Theatre recognized the interlude as opportunity for creative reflection. After re-thinking and re-possessing past works, Guitron will return to Lincoln Hall on the Portland State University campus with "Repo," a retrospective of Polaris works that inspires individuals to look inward, re-examine and rethink themselves. The Fall Concert runs Thursday, Dec. 9 through Saturday, Dec. 11 with 7:30 p.m. shows. Lincoln Hall is located at 1620 S.W. Park Ave. Order tickets at PolarisDance.org.
