

Happy 99th Birthday!

Zelma Scarborough sends out a thank you to everyone who made her 99th birthday a wonderful memory.

The longtime Portland resident celebrated her birthday on Jan. 22 with a luncheon with her family and friends which was enjoyed by all.

She was born in 1912, in Yazoo City, Miss., the fifth child of 10 siblings. She has two siblings left, a brother, O.D. Richardson and sister, Cornelia Montgomery, both living in Portland. She graduated from Magnolia high School in Vicksburg, Miss., and later moved to Portland in 1942 to work at the shipyards. She then worked until retirement at Emanuel Hospital.

The wife of the late founder of Scarborough Oil, she now spends her time knitting and watching sports, especially the Trail Blazers. She is a member of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Zelma thanks her sister Cornelia and daughters for planning her wonderful birthday celebration. She also gives heartfelt memories of her son, Ed Scarborough and sister, Ardean White, both who passed away last year.

Zelma Scarborough celebrates her 99th birthday.

In 1926, African American historian Carter G. Woodson single-handedly pioneered the celebration of "Negro History Week", for the second week in February, to coincide with the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass. The week was later extended to the full month of February and renamed Black History Month.
