Narratives on Race, Culture, Identity

Lewis & Clark hosts Black History events

In honor of Black History Month, the Lewis & Clark Office of Multicultural Affairs and Mosaic, a collective of multicultural clubs, are hosting a series of special events—film screenings, lectures, and a panel discussion.

•Feb. 10: Films in Focus: Classic Narratives of the Black Experience. Explore the rich context of race, power, personal narrative in three films from very distinct approaches, eras, and genres of filmmaking. 3:30 p.m., "Imitation of Life" (1959); 5:30 p.m., "Malcolm X" (1992); 8:30 p.m., "Trouble The Water" (2008). Templeton Campus Center, Council Chamber.

•Feb. 17: Learning From Black Resistance to School Desegregation. Charise Cheney, a leading scholar in African-American popular and political cultures, examines the question "what did we lose" with Brown v. Board of Education and school desegregation. Lecture scheduled for 4 p.m. in Miller Center for Humanities, Room 105.

•Feb. 21: Contemporary Art & Media: "Black Is...Black Ain't." This groundbreaking documentary by filmmaker Marlon Riggs reveals a myriad of social forces that attempt to consolidate, reduce, and contain the lives and experiences of African Americans. Film screening scheduled for 7 p.m. in Templeton Campus Center, 3rd floor.

•Feb. 22: Black Identity in a "Color Blind" Society. Student, faculty, and community panelists discuss the politics of racial identity and what it means to be "black" today. Panel discussion scheduled for 4 p.m. in Templeton Campus Center, Thayer •Feb. 23: What is Black? Too Black? Not Black Enough?: A Scholarly Perspective on the film "Black Is...Black Ain't." African American studies scholar and founding director of the James Weldon Johnson Institute for Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies at Emory University Rudolph Byrd will explore the complexities of defining "blackness" in America through the constructs of racism, music, family, sexual orientation, religion, and beyond. Key-note lecture scheduled for 4 p.m. in Miller Center for Humanities, Room 105.

All events are free. For more details, visit go.lclark.edu/college/multicultural.

Sorority Sponsors Scholarships

The Portland Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and Piedmont Rose is offering several scholarships to deserving African-American female and male high school seniors.

Applicants must plan to pursue higher education at a four-year institution leading to a degree in a profession or applied science and must have an overall grade point average of 3.0 or above. Students should identify their long-range goals.

All application must include a copy of an official, unopened transcript including S.A.T. or A.C.T. scores; two recommendations from a teacher, counselor or school administrator; a student essay stating why he/she seeks the scholarship; and a current head shot photo.

The letters of recommendation should indicate courses taken, achievement in the area of interest, the student's leadership qualities, awards, perseverance, extracurricular and community activities. The scholarship committee will base its selection on evaluation of the transcript, test scores, letters of recommendation, student essay and completeness of the application.

The application must be post-marked no later than Monday, March 1. Send all information to Scholarship Committee, Portland Alumnae Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, P.O. Box 4265, Portland, OR 97208.

Winners must attend a reception on Saturday, April 2 with Delta Sigma Theta and the group's awards luncheon on May 21 at the Sheraton Airport Hotel.
