

A Family's Anguish

March 19 at his father's northeast Portland home, where authorities say they found blood and DNA evidence linking the male teen to Vaughn's death.

Led by the Multnomah County

Sheriff's Office, volunteers continue to sweep the grounds of Rocky Butte in Northeast Portland near Bennette's father's house. Friends, family and supporters have spread search efforts throughout wooded areas in the Portland Metro area and circulate flyers to places where she and her friends hung out, as well as local businesses.

A media briefing was held at Rocky Butte on Sunday, but there were no significant updates. Authorities said the search for evidence related to the Yashanee's disappearance and presumed death would continue.

Portland police detectives are still interested in hearing from anyone who has information about the case, including where Yashanee was last seen and where any evidence might be located.

Teen Killed in Drive-by

A 19-year-old found dead after a drive by shooting around 1 a.m. on Saturday at Northeast 86th Avenue and Sacramento Street has been identified as Mario Alexander Marin of Gresham. Detectives cannot yet say if the shooting was gang-related.

Elder Driver Hits Pedestrian

An 87-year-old woman is accused of driving a car that hit and killed a pedestrian crossing Northeast Killingsworth Street near 60th Avenue around 10:30 a.m. Saturday. The victim, Mary Anne Turner, 63, was not using the crosswalk. Police said the driver, Helen Quimiro, continued driving from the crash site and also struck three parked cars.

Nuclear Severity Grows

Japan ranked its nuclear crisis at the highest possible severity on an international scale — the same level as the 1986 Chernobyl disaster — even as it insisted Tuesday that radiation leaks are declining at its tsunami-crippled nuclear plant. The higher rating is an open acknowledgement that the nuclear accident at the Fukushima Dai-ichi plant is the second-worst in history.

Carl Lewis Eyes Senate

Olympic gold medalist Carl Lewis will run again — for New Jersey Senate. The 49-year-old New Jersey native announced his bid to represent his hometown of Willingboro on Monday. Lewis says he hopes to inspire people, encourage communities and improve educational opportunities for children.

Applebee's Promises Fix

The Applebee's restaurant chain said on Monday it was immediately retraining its workers nationwide after a server at a suburban Detroit location accidentally served alcohol to a toddler.

Police Protesters Arrested

Police arrested 11 adults and one juvenile Thursday after about 40 anti-police protesters marched from the south parks blocks through downtown Portland. Some of the protesters were accused of throwing firework type devices at officers.
