MULTNOMAH

UNIVERSITY

Professor of Teacher Education

Multnomah University Teacher Education Division invites applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor. Position will begin no later than July 1, 2011. Candidates should possess an M. Ed.; however, a doctorate is preferred. Qualifications must include early childhood/elementary experience with appropriate state licensure with recency within three years (could include faculty work overseeing student teachers), as well as five years of teaching experience at the early childhood or elementary level.

The appointee will teach courses in general methods and philosophy at both the undergraduate and graduate level. Appointee must be willing to supervise student teachers. Full-time faculties also serve as student advisors for teacher education students. Evening and summer classes may be assigned as part of regular teaching load.

All candidates must embrace the evangelical Christian faith and be committed to integrating faith and learning. Teaching excellence is a high priority with service, advising, and research also expected. Ethnically diverse candidates and those with terminal degrees (Ed. D.) are strongly encouraged to apply.

Base salary range is $46,750 to $53,750 depending on experience and degree. Position includes insurance and other benefits.

For full consideration applicants must submit a completed application (can be downloaded from our website www.multnomah.edu/employment), cover letter, resume, and references (include the name, title and phone number of three references) by May 25, 2011 to:

Dr. Deborah Miller, Chair, Division of Teacher Education, Multnomah University, 8435 N.E. Glisan St., Portland, Oregon, 97220.

The Division Chair can be contacted by email: dmiller@multnomah.edu.
