Afro-Rican Dance Music

Purveyors of hard-grooving dance music Plena Libre will get hips swaying and feet tapping at the Oregon Zoo on Wednesday, July 13 as part of the Oregon Zoo summer concert series. The Puerto Rican group has honed their explorations of Puerto Rico's African heritage and Caribbean connections during 15 years of performing on more than a dozen albums.

Two Shows, Four Artists

Two separate art shows are now showing through July 26 at Guardino Gallery, 2939 N.E. Alberta St.

Carole Turner's stone sculptures and Rio Wrenn's investigation of the rust process are on display at the Main Gallery, while woodcarvings by Greg Carrigan and Tabor Porter are showing in the featured area.

Turner sculpts with "Ariosa" stone, a medium that is a departure for her and on a much smaller scale, while her sculptural mediums range from marble to bronze. Wrenn investigates the rust process on silk while involving her latest rusted passion – old car parts. She also experiments with smaller silk and encaustic on wood panels.

Longtime partners Carrigan and Porter explore the past, present and future in their show "Symbols from the Collective Unconscious" with woodcarving figures, mixed media, and hand-crafted jewelry.
