Making a Positive Difference

Community advocates invited to share ideas

Area residents are invited to get a sampling of the amazing grass-roots efforts that are making a positive difference in neighborhoods throughout Portland.

A sharing ideas panel will gather on Saturday, Aug. 6 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in St. Johns at the Bureau of Environmental Services Water Laboratory, 6543 N. Burlington.

The event will feature panelists from Compass Junction, a neighborhood effort to build a strong, vibrant community in Cathedral Park; the African Youth and Community Organization which brings together youth across cultures and helps them to achieve success through soccer and mentoring programs; and the St. Johns Farmers Market, a collaborative effort that works to support a local, sustainable food supply and enhance the vitality of the St. Johns community.

The outreach is coordinated by Our United Village, a local non-profit that provides resources and opportunities for neighbors to get to know one another.

For more information or to RSVP, call Our United Villages at 503-546-7499.

Roosevelt Clean Up Saturday

Volunteers are welcome to help spruce up the Roosevelt High School campus during a community service campaign on Saturday, July 30 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Lunch will be provided.

In the last three years, an estimated $750,000 of renewal and renovation has been provided to the north Portland school through the "RHS Day of Service" event which is coordinated with Portland area churches.

This year, volunteers hope to go over the $1 million mark of school facility improvements with another great turn-out.

The event has become an important part of Roosevelt's "On The Rise" campaign as it helps create a positive and welcoming environment for local students to excel.

Registration is requested by visiting the website churchserves.com; or by calling Brooke Perry at 503-516-0723 or Nike Greene at 503-916-5260, extension 71432.
