

Mt. Hood Welcomes New Students

Committed to helping students succeed, Mt. Hood Community College is holding an orientation day for new students beginning at 9 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 22, at the Gresham Campus, where students will have the opportunity to hear about academic programs, and campus resources.

“We encourage all students – new students, in particular – to attend Orientation at least once while enrolled at MHCC,” said Sydney Eustrom, manager of student outreach and high school services. “Students will have the opportunity to tour the Gresham campus and connect with other students, as well as meet student leaders, faculty and staff.”

Serving more than 33,000 students each year, Mt. Hood Community College provides students the education needed for the career of their choice and offers more than 70 associate degrees, certificate programs and transfer options in a wide variety of disciplines.

Following orientation, the bookstore will hold an open house, from 1 to 3 p.m., with tours and door prizes. The College Center will also hold an ice cream social from 1 – 4:30 p.m., while students are getting photos taken for their MHCC activity card.

PCC Celebrates 50-years of Service

Anniversary events begin with new school year

Portland Community College has 50,000 reasons why its new school year, which starts on Monday, Sept. 26, will be one to remember.

The college is celebrating its 50th Anniversary with a kick-off celebration from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Friday, Oct. 7 in Pioneer Courthouse Square located at 701 S.W. 6th Ave. The program will feature high-energy music from the Lions of Batucada, interactive exhibits from PCC programs, and refreshments from local businesses.

“This isn’t just any year,” said PCC District President Preston Pulliams. “This is the start of Portland Community College’s 50th anniversary. And we’re kicking off a year of celebration in a big way.”

In honor of the historical milestone, the college has pledged to donate 50,000 hours of service to the community. PCC will partner with local community service efforts throughout the year to achieve its goal, which means PCC will double to triple the number of projects and hours it usually organizes in one year.

“I’m super excited that the college has committed to 50,000 hours of service,” said Sarah Tillery, PCC’s service-learning coordinator and the one charged with overseeing the 50th celebration service projects. “I think that it will be a huge commitment. I think these events will be a great opportunity to be together and contribute something back to this community that keeps this place going and alive.”

An afternoon of inspiration, education and hope Come join the celebration

Everyone is invited to rejoice in the success of Portland’s first “Worship in Pink” — a community program that involves inter-faith congregations in spreading the word about the importance of breast cancer screening and early detection.

Come celebrate with Worship in Pink congregations while honoring breast cancer survivors and warriors. This is a free event.

Our legacy is yours.

Worship in Pink is sponsored by Legacy Health and the Oregon and Southwest Washington affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure®.
