‘Cover Your Hearts’ for Ethos Music

Benefit brings favorite 80s love songs

The fifth annual ‘Cover Your Hearts’ show to benefit the Ethos Music education program takes place Saturday, Feb. 11 at the Wonder Ballroom, 128 N.E. Russell St. Doors open at 7 p.m. with the show starting at 8 p.m.

Several local bands will gather and cover their favorite ‘80s guilty-pleasure love songs. The local indie pop group Charmparticles will host the show, joined by Derby, Jaycob van Auken, Dr. Theopolis, On the Stairs, Violet Isle, Mike Lewis, and Lael Alderman’s new Project, We are not Shadows. Charmparticles created Cover

Your Hearts as a way to sneak philanthropy into the local rock scene and to raise money for the non-profit music educators at Ethos Music. Raising money for the kids at Ethos is its own reward but, of course, hearing some of Portland’s best musicians covering their favorite guilty-pleasure love songs is pretty awesome, too.

Tickets are $15. All of the proceeds will go to support Ethos Music, an organization that was established as a direct response to budget cuts in public schools which limited music education for children.

The Ethos mission is that every child has a right to learn and make music. Through Ethos, music education is available on a sliding scale so that any child can participate.
