Zoo Brew Kicks Off Summer

On the evening of Friday, June 1, the Oregon Zoo concert lawn will be transformed into a hub for artisan beer and cider, regional music, fun workshops and activities.

Zoo Brew raises money for the zoo's animal welfare, conservation and education efforts. Sponsored by SELCO Community Credit Union, this year's event features more than 60 regional beer and cider choices — including BridgePort's commemorative Packy Porter, brewed in honor of the famous pachyderm's 50th birthday this year — and live music from Seattle party band Cool-Ade.

"Zoo Brew is the perfect way to kick off the summer, try something new and support a great cause," said Beth Smith, events organizer for the Oregon Zoo Foundation.

The festival runs from 5 p.m. to 10

Volunteer April Wolstencroft pours beer during Zoo Brew. The annual event, with more than 60 beer and cider options, returns Friday, June 1 on the Oregon Zoo concert lawn.

p.m. on the concert lawn, rain or shine. In addition to the music, attendees can play carnival-style games with prizes, vote for the best brew, and stroll through the zoo to check out animals (exhibits stay open until 7 p.m.). Tickets to Zoo Brew are $35. For more information, visit oregonzoo.org.
