Funk-Fueled Summer Concert

New Orleans horn maestro will be joined by guitar great

Two thrilling musicians, Trombone Shorty and Robert Randolph, will share a bill Friday, Aug. 24 as part of the zoo's summer concert

Hailing from Tremé, a New Orleans neighborhood known for its brass bands, Troy Andrews (aka Trombone Shorty) earned his child prodigy to professional master on both the trombone and trumpet.

Sharing the bill is steel-guitar wizard Robert Randolph and his Family Band. Randolph, who began his career on the gospel circuit, has toured with musicians spanning genres and generations, including B.B. King, Eric Clapton, the Roots and John Mayer.

Tickets for the concert are $24 and can be purchased at the zoo during normal operating hours, and at all Ticketmaster ticket centers. Admission allows entry into the zoo after 4 p.m.; the concert begins at 7 p.m.
