

HEALTH

PHOTO BY NAIM HASAN

Worship in Pink for Breast Cancer Health

Worship in Pink ambassadors from Portland's faith-based community bring awareness to issues of breast cancer health during a recent gathering at the Legacy Emanuel Lorenzen Center. A collaboration between Legacy and Susan G. Komen for the Cure, the religious leaders raise awareness about breast cancer and the importance of early detection by hosting health education activities within their churches and organizations.

A Mission to Feed

Preparations are underway at Union Gospel Mission for their annual Thanksgiving meal for the homeless on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

New this year, the mission is expanding their services to reach low-income families in need with over 300 food boxes distributed throughout the city.

Union Gospel Mission urgently needs Thanksgiving canned and boxed foods, such as boxed stuffing and instant potatoes, canned yams, dinner rolls, juice and coffee for the meal and to put into food boxes.

Donations of food can be dropped off at Union Gospel Mission at 3 N.W. Third Ave.. To make a financial gift to support the Thanksgiving services go to ugmportland.org or call 503-274-4483.

Volunteers serve meals to the homeless at Union Gospel Mission's Thanksgiving dinner.