Returning to St. John's

The Portland Police Bureau moved back into the St. John's community last week with the re-opening of the historic old precinct as office space for the bureau's traffic division. A ceremonial raising of the flag was accompanied by public tours of the facility.

Clackamas Killer Stole Gun

Jammed AR-15 prevented more deaths

The gunman who killed two people and himself in a shooting rampage at the Clackamas Town Center was 22-years-old and used a stolen semi-automatic rifle from someone he knew, authorities said.

Jacob Tyler Roberts had armed himself with an AR-15 semiautomatic rifle and had several fully loaded magazines when he arrived at a Portland mall on Dec. 11, said Clackamas County Sheriff Craig Roberts.

The sheriff said the rifle jammed during the 22-year-old's attack, but he managed to get it working again. He later shot himself. Authorities don't yet have a motive but don't believe he was targeting specific people.

Roberts, wearing a hockey-style face mask, parked his 1996 green Volkswagen Jetta in front of the second-floor entrance to Macy's and walked briskly through the store, into the mall and began firing randomly, police said.
