Pasta Dinners before Game

All-you-can-eat pre-game pasta dinners will return to the Chiles Center for the remaining 2012-13 University of Portland men's basketball home games.

The pre-game dinner and social will be available to the public for $8 per person beginning with Thursday's home opener against the No. 8 Gonzaga Bulldogs. Doors will open and food service will begin on the South Mezzanine one hour prior to each game's scheduled tip-off.

The buffet-style dinner will feature two different kinds of pasta, caesar salad, dessert and beverages.

"We have heard from our fans that the pre-game pasta dinner provided a great sense of community at University of Portland basketball games," Leykam said. "With the upgrades made to the Chiles Center over the last two years, the re-emergence of pre-game pasta dinner will have an even more inviting look and feel for fans."

Coach Lincoln Correction

The Matt Dishmann Community Center hosted a community appreciation celebration Saturday for their longtime boxing coach and trainer Chuck Lincoln.

The Portland Observer sincerely regrets an error about the event in last week's issue that incorrectly stated that he had passed away.

Senior Excels on the Court

Hard work at playing basketball since the fifth grade is culminating into on-the-court accolades for Jacia J. Jointer, a senior at Parkrose High School.

The 17-year-old, five-foot-five point guard has started for Parkrose in her sophomore, junior and senior years. She is an all-conference player. She also plays summer league with the Runnin' Rebels.

Congratulations, Jacia!
