ChocolateFest at the Oregon Convention Center offers everything from European style drinking chocolate to artisan truffles

Delicious Chocolate Goodness

Portland's own ChocolateFest at the Oregon Convention Center delivers three days of delicious goodness, Friday, Jan. 18 through Sunday, Jan. 20.

The event is produced by the World Forestry Center and has grown to be one of the largest, if not the largest, gathering of chocolatiers in the country. Visitors will be tempted with luscious truffles, decadent brownies, heavenly fudge, creamy caramels, chocolate martinis and much more.

Additional presentations include learning about the cacao tree, how to make chocolate, and pairing possibilities of chocolate with food and wine

Tickets for Friday night's premier event, for ages 21 and over, are $24 and include a free wine glass for the first 800 attendees, drink specials, live music, along with a chance to win two round trip tickets on the Amtrak Cascades to Vancouver, B.C.

Tickets for Saturday and Sunday are $12 for adults, $8 for students and $7 for children.

Makin' It Listening Party

Your invited to get inspired by Portland's creative community at Makin' It with Destination DIY, an all-ages listening party and craft project night on Wednesday, Jan. 23 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at ADX, a creative space at 417 S.W. 11th Ave.

A $3 to $5 donation at the door will be welcome. Free beer is provided by sponsor Full Sail and free pizza is provided by Lonesome's Pizza.

Destination DIY is an independently produced public radio show and podcast bringing you stories about all kinds of creativity.

ADX offers a space for makers of all stripes to explore their craft, prototype products, and enlist the support of industry experts.
