

Nellie Coney (left) and Elizabeth Mosley

What Would Martin Luther King Jr. Say?

continued ▲ from page 15

would be the same age as him if he were alive today. She remembers turning on the TV after King's assassination.

"He was for everybody," said Coney. "No color. No race. He was a God's person."

Coney does not think we've progressed enough. She recalls King's last speech. "He wanted for everybody to be equal. We are all God's people. Just because you're white not black, that don't mean anything to me because we all got red blood."

"He's a good man, a good leader," said Coney's friend, Elizabeth Mosley, 83, and standing nearby "I love him very much."

"I sure miss him," said Coney.

Human salvation lies in the hands of the creatively maladjusted.

-- Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Saluting Martin Luther King Jr.

Alberta Street Market

909 N.E. Alberta Street
503-282-2169

★ Hot Food ★

★ Best Chicken Wings In Town ★

★ Best Selection of Mirco Brew and Wine ★

Mon-Sun • 8AM - 12 PM

Fri-Sat • 8 AM - 1PM

"It's more than just a school or football team, it's something you invest in for life, and I can't get enough of it."

I love Oregon State."

Audrey Wiltz '14
New Media Communications

Oregon State University is a value. Not only as a 2013 Fiske Guide 'Best Buy' institution, but in its environment, experiences and quality of education. A future of excellence, success and difference-making. That's Beaver Nation. Become a part of it.

Oregon State UNIVERSITY

oregonstate.edu/admissions