Arts School's Big Show

The artwork of more than 140 artists, craftpersons and designers will transform the interior of Buckman Elementary School at 320 S.E. 16th Ave. into a massive art festival at the annual Buckman Art Show and Sell, Friday, Feb. 1 and Saturday, Feb. 2.

A Longtime fixture in the Portland art scene, the event benefits the Buckman Arts Focus Elementary PTA. There will be paintings, ceramics, sculptures, photography, prints, collage, mosaics, fabric and paper arts, textiles, fashion accessories, jewelry, and toys created by both established veterans and newly emerging talents in the Northwest art world.

A separate gallery, filling the hallways of the school, showcases the work of talented Buckman students and young alumni. Participating artists, who were selected by a jury of artists and community members, donate a percentage of their proceeds to Buckman's PTA.

A free, supervised hands-on children's art area provides young artists the chance to create their own masterpieces while their parents shop for treasures.
