Eliot E-Mat Café

Eliot E-Mat Café owners James and Leannor Posey eliotematcafe.com

Many community members may not know that in mid-October of 2012, the Eliot E-Mat Café, owned and operated by James and Leannor Posey was tragically damaged by water caused by faulty overhead plumbing in their leased spaced at 2808 Dr. Martin Luther King Blvd (the old Standard Dairy building in the Eliot neighborhood on the corner of NE Stanton and MLK). Since January 2013, the business has re-opened with limited hours. As one of the few African American owned retail businesses in the Portland community, the damage was devastating and caused the owners to consider permanently closing the business that marks its 13 year anniversary May 1, 2013.

Eliot E-Mat Café gives thanks to the loyal customers who have supported the business through these difficult times. Supporters of the unique combination of Deli, Laundromat, and Internet Café have encouraged community members to stop by and support its continued operations.

The current hours of operation are 9am to 9pm Monday thru Friday. Weekend hours are 9am to 6pm on Saturday and Sunday. Please call ahead your large sandwich orders (503) 280-8889 and stop by and get a cup of the famous Stumptown coffee.
