Mummies of the World

The nationally recognized Mummies of the World exhibition continues at the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry through Sept. 8.

This astonishing collection of mummies and related artifacts includes a 6,420-year-old child mummy from Peru dating 3,000 years before King Tut.

Declared "magical and mythical" by the New York Times, the exhibit is a collection of rare mummies from across the world -- including South America, Europe, Asia, Oceania and Egypt -- that spans eons of time and transcends history.

With an astounding collection of 150 specimens and objects, Mummies of the World is the largest exhibition of real human and animal mummies and related artifacts ever assembled.

Through modern science and engaging interactive and multi-media exhibits, the exhibition reveals how the scientific study of mummies provides a window into the lives of ancient people, offering unprecedented insights into past cultures and civilizations.
