Po'Shines Crawfish Feed

Po'Shines Café de la Soul, a non-profit soul food café in the Kenton Neighborhood, will be hosting their 6th annual crawfish feed on Friday, Aug. 23 and Saturday, Aug. 24.

A variety of crawfish inspired dishes will be served, such as crawfish étouffée, crawfish cakes, crawfish chowder and more, along with the traditional boiled crawfish feed. All proceeds will go toward the continued development of Po'Shines culinary training program for at risk youth and young adults.

Since opening its doors in the summer of 2007, Po'Shines has not only grown into an established Portland soul food restaurant, but has also helped many individuals on their road back to success.

In addition to plenty of good food, the two day festival will also feature local music, artists and honor community members and businesses who are also striving to make a true difference in the Kenton Area. Staff members will also be on hand to demonstrate various crawfish eating techniques for those new to the process.

Po'Shines is located at 8139 N. Denver. For more information, call 503-978-9000 or visit poshines.com.

Community Re-Sale Fair at SEI

Self Enhancement Inc. is hosting a Community Re-Sale Fair on Saturday, Aug. 24 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Vendors will have new, vintage and handmade items for sale. Bring your family and friends to the SEI parking lot at 3920 N. Kerby Ave. for this end of summer and back to school celebration. There will be drawings for barbecue equipment, an autographed Trailblazers basketball and more!

A health fair booth, food, and back-to-school supplies (pencil and pen cases for boys and girls) will also be available.

To reserve tables to exhibit, call Linda Brooks at 503-249-1721.
