Adi (Israeli) and Rana (Palestinian) build bridges for peace in the documentary 'My So Called Enemy.'

Emotionally Charged Documentary

The community is invited to come, view and engage in "My So Called Enemy," the next installment of the Jefferson High School Multicultural Film Festival, Tuesday, Dec. 10 at 6 p.m. at the North Portland Neighborhood Library, 512 N. Killingsworth St.

The documentary is an emotionally-charged film about the human consequences of all conflicts - as seen through the eyes of young women who are brought together to participate in a women's leadership program called Building Bridges for Peace.

The film's director Lisa Gossels is of Jewish faith and a member of Selah, a national network of Jewish social justice leaders. She became a documentarian because she believes in the power of film to affect social change. Her efforts to bring peace are courageous and complicated when considering the origin of Palestinian strife began with Jewish occupation of Palestinian land.

Admission to this informative, family friendly event is free.
