The Week in Review

Drake Hip Hop Gear in I-5 Wreck

A truck carrying gear for a hip-hop performance at the Moda Center by rapper Drake crashed on I-5 southbound near the Fremont Bridge Tuesday morning, landing its driver in the hospital and causing a major delay in the morning commute.

Saturday Market Ban Under Review

A ban that prevented an 11-year-old girl from selling mistletoe at Portland Saturday Market but allowed for begging, pan-handling, singing, and protesting will be reviewed, Portland Mayor Charlie Hales said Tuesday. A spokesman for Hales said he plans to contact Saturday Market staff to better understand what happened and whether procedures could be tweaked to allow kids to sell.

Coach of the Year

Portland's Caleb Porter has been selected Major League Soccer's Coach of the Year. Porter, in first season with a professional club after leaving the University of Akron, led the Timbers to a Western Conference-best 14-5-15 record. That's a 23-point improvement from 2012.

Third Police Shooting in Fairview

A man was taken to the hospital after an officer-involved shooting in Fairview on Tuesday morning, the third officer-involved shooting in two years for the small community east of Portland. Police said they did not know why the Fairview officer was forced to use deadly force.

Deadly Train Crash Probe in New York

Investigators looking into a deadly train derailment near New York City said Tuesday that no problems had been found with the train's brake system or track signals along its route and that its engineer was being questioned again. The commuter train was traveling Sunday at 82 mph as it approached a 30 mph zone and jumped the tracks along a sharp curve. Four passengers died.

Sexual Assault Arrest Made

Portland Police have arrested 33-year-old James Ezell Clark on charges of kidnapping, unlawful penetration, sex abuse, unauthorized use of a vehicle, strangulation and failure to register as a sex offender in connection with a Sept. 18 attack against a 19-year-old female who said she was sleeping in a friend's car when she awoke to a stranger assaulting her.

Honoring Dr. King's Birthplace

Innovative Housing is celebrating the grand opening of 50 new apartment homes at the Magnolia, a new complex named to honor Dr. Rev. Martin Luther King's birthplace at 3250 N.E. Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd. Developed by Innovative Housing to create affordable housing options in a neighborhood that is rapidly becoming unaffordable, rents range from $499 to $625 per month for a one bedroom.
