Evening of Love and Laughter

Famed folk singer to perform benefit

Peter Yarrow, of the famed 1960s folk group Peter, Paul & Mary, will perform "An Evening of Love and Laughter" to benefit Portland-based Wisdom of the Elders, a Native American non-profit, on Friday, Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Augustana Lutheran Church, which donated use of its facility at 2710 N.E. 14th Ave.

Yarrow, who wrote some of the trio's hits, including "Puff, the Magic Dragon" and "Day is Done," has merged music and social activism in recent decades.

Since 1993, Wisdom of the Elders has served the Native American community through cultural

Valentine's Day Kiss & Tell

Portland Story Theater's annual Valentine's Day show, Kiss & Tell, takes place at The Alberta Rose Theatre on Friday, Feb. 14 at 8 p.m.

Portland Story co-founders Lynne Duddy and Lawrence Howard promise a plethora of music, laughter and true stories that disclose the secret ingredient to long-term love, reveal mystical romantic rituals, describe the "top three" kisses of a hopeless romantic, and expose the real reason for starry-eyed crushes

The cast includes well-known Portland puppeteer Penny Walter; Miracle Theatre actor Ozzie Gonzalez; Vagabond Opera founder and accordion player extraordinaire Eric Stern; Portland Story Theater regular and favorite Kriya Kaping; and Austin-based spoken-word artist Annie La Ganga. Appearing as this year's "Valentine Vixen" will be the incomparable Elizabeth Flores.

"Sure, go ahead and have that romantic, candlelit Valentine's dinner at the expensive restaurant. But get that out of the way early, so you'll still have time to catch Kiss & Tell," says Howard. "But keep in mind—you don't have to have a date—it's just a really fun way to celebrate Valentine's Day."
