Painting by Stacey Thalden

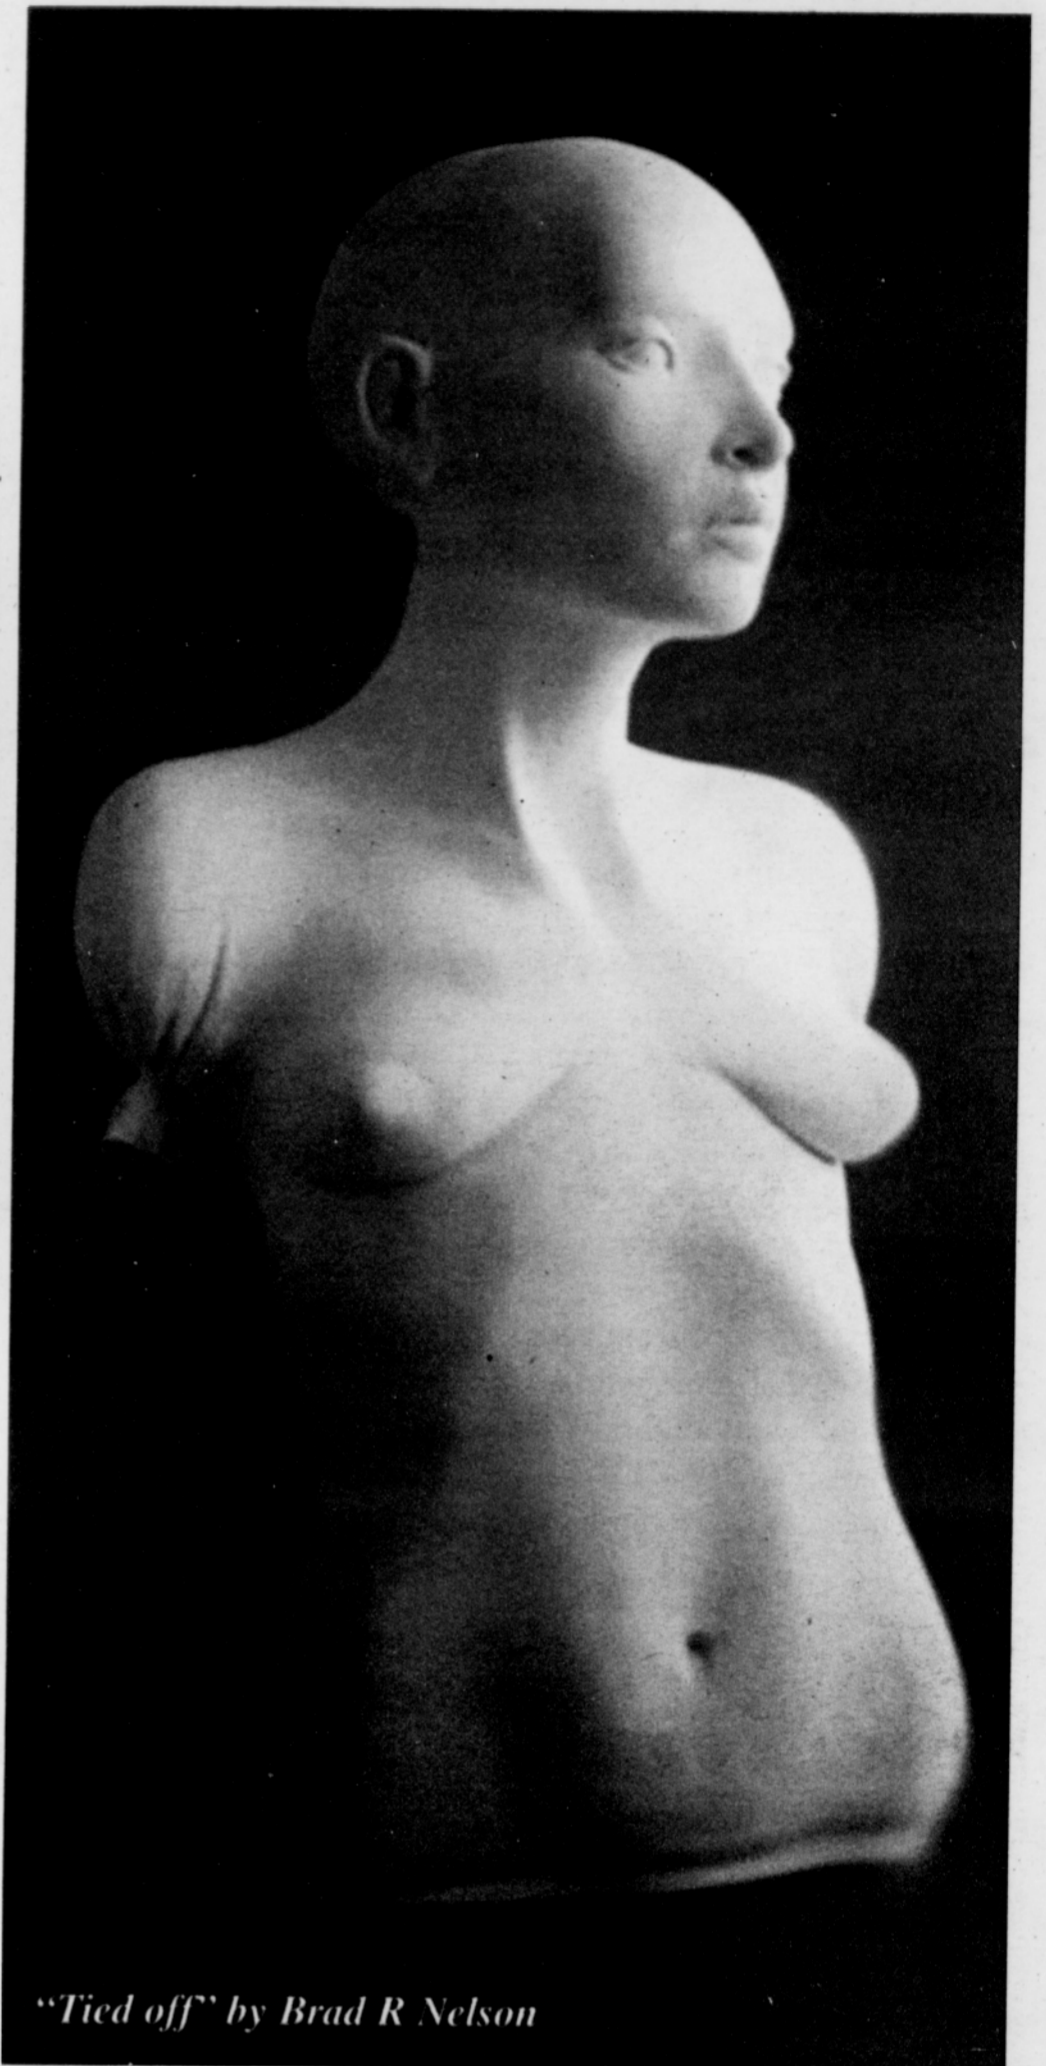

March show at Guardino

Ceramic figures with surrealist imagery and a remarkable collection of paintings highlight this month's show at Guardino Gallery, 2939 N.E. Alberta St.

In the Main Gallery, Brad R Nelson presents sculptural work consisting of ceramic figures using realistic imagery with surrealist and modernist tendencies; and Richard and Jennifer Gillia

Cutshall show a body of work made up of collaborative pieces on paper.

In the Feature Area, Stacey Thalden presents remarkably realistic 2D and 3D paintings of beetles. These works on canvas and small sculptures magnify the extraordinary colors, patterns, and proportions displayed by these insects.
